Hurricane Katrina & The Quilting Spirit

Hello {EmailAddress},

It's September. We have much on our plates to consider. The first and foremost is the devastation from Hurricane Katrina. I can not fathom what it must be like for all those directly affected by this tragic event and its most unfortunate fallout. My sister-in-law rode out the hurricane where its force was the greatest unscathed. But upon returning to her house she found almost total annihilation of houses arounds her including a town that was no longer. The quilting community has always been one provide for those in need. Your quilts provide comfort, warmth and knowledge that someone cares. I encourage all of you to contribute. Two sites come readily to mind. The first Charities... is a site that provides a list of charities you can choose from and their records. The second site is Quilts Inc. Here Karey B's company will match dollar for dollar (up to $10,000) of money you donate to the Hurricane Katrina Relief Fund. There is also information of where you can send quilts for all those with only the clothes on their backs.
